

Finally, the band find a permanent replacement on the drum stool. Stevie Hughes, an old friend of Norman's, comes over from Ireland and joins the band.

The band tour throughout the UK, playing the material recorded for the second album.

In autumn, with his first son on the way, Phil quits the band.